HENS VS. INCUBATOR

observing poultry man.

"When the mechanical incubator of the year. came the cry went up 'Hens for laying, incubators for incubating.' Why waste when it can be done more efficiently April, A. D., 1914. Signed, and on a much larger scale by a wooden box with a lamp inside it?"

"Of course, every hen with the sense of a chicken quit setting, or seting. She saw that her days as a setting hen were about to be numbered and she preferred to do the counting herself. She quit instanter. The result is work. that we have now a race of hens that flatly refuse to sit. They are entirely willing to lay lhe eggs and when that is done they quit as promptly as the man working on a union schedule. They leave the hatching of the eggs to any old wooden or iron contraption that man cares to invent.

"And now it is found extremely awkward to have hens that will sit. There are some jobs of incubating that can best be done by a hen. Suppose a poultry raiser has a setting of fancy eggs for which he paid $2 apiece. He does not wish to put them into an incubator with 200 other eggs. There would never be any way in the world doing the carpenter work. . to distinguish the chick costing 20 cents a dozen. There is no other way to incubate those chicks but to put them under a sitting, or setting hen. And there are no sitting or setting hens.

The hens are standing pat on that. "The demand for good sitting or setting hens can be heard from everywhere. Some have tried to borrow them, some have offered fabulous prices for them. But the hens do not show the slightest disposition to resume the drudgery of brooding over a troubles which would drive a chick to this week.

The annual loss of property and life by fire in Michigan is appalling. This loss arises very largely from carelesscriminal.

All winter long, in our villages and bish accumulates in out buildings, in alleys and by the road side, in store rooms and in attics, furnishing fire traps for the dry season- Furthermore, the accumulation of rubbish, especially of vegetable origin, is a breeding center for disease producing bacteria. Cleanliness is absolutely essential to health. Cleanliness is a kind of patriotism that needs all possible encouragement.

I, Woodbridge N. Ferris, Governor of Michigan, do hereby designate Friday, the 15th day of May, 1914, as "Clean Up Day." I heartily recommend all officials, mayors, fire marshalls, health officers, etc., to use all er. possible diligence in awakening all of the people under their jurisdiction to a realization of the importance of putting their premises in order against the day of needless fires and epidemics. Officials should not only urge the importrace of this work, but enforce impartially the laws of the state to this end. I, furthermore, urge that the schools of Michigan, both public and private, recognize this day through fire drill exercises, and discussions of the best methods of preserving property and life. All civic organizations should share in this work of conserving life "The hen is having the cackle at the and property, The press with its incubator of these days," remarked an urging, do all in its power to make this day a beacon light for all the other days
